From a co-founder of empowr.com comes this "Why?" story behind the massive social platform, empowr, that's been in the making for fifteen years. Learn exactly what drove the participants (founders, advisors, success coaches and 1,000 employees plus 100,000 alpha test users) in their gigantic moonshot project. After meticulously discussing the "Why?" the author then delves into how empowr has been designed to exploit the exponential characteristics of the web - via its tightly-integrated democratic, economic and educational platform - to deliver opportunity to people everywhere. The book reads like a manifesto and a manual. One can't help but come away with newfound or elevated inspiration to dream big, take on their own moonshot project and make a massive difference on the planet.

It was a great pleasure to read your superb book! I consider that the education and democracy are very important for this world to succeed in life. This book really opened my eyes about what is happening around us as a planet. If you keep this amazing work I think a lot of people will be more open minded about that is happening around.

With a lot of love,

Highly recommend it.

By Lou Flores

Came across this book while doing some research about technology and poverty. I was fascinated by the idea of giving back the power to the people in our current broken democracy. The themes set the platform for a discussion on changing the way our current political system works. Highly recommend it.
